Our Mission

Fostering neighborly relations

Optimizing our procedures, protocols, practices

Respecting our seasoned residents

Welcoming our new neighbors

Appealing to needs of all neighbors

Remembering our history, embracing our future

Dedicating ourselves to the best for our community

Our Thoughts About Your Election Choices

It's great that several current trustees want to commit to another term, and other neighbors are willing to serve. We hope you strongly consider as an elected officer any individual who has shown that: (1) they've had active involvement with LRCA; (2) they can be a positive LRCA ambassador; (3) they can communicate well and accurately with your neighbors, political representatives, businesses, and other stakeholders using a variety of outreach methods; and (4) they can work with all residents--both long-term and new--in a collaborative, collegial, unifying, and constructive way.

These are critical factors as our community grows.

About Gwen. A 20+year Lamond-Riggs resident, Gwen credits Mr. Martin with getting her involved in the community through Citizens Aware, where she held leadership positions for many years. Currently, she is chair of the Development Task Force, and is LRCA's 1st VP. She's also a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. and is a communications professional who specializes in legal and business writing/editing, graphic design, public relations and marketing. Her management style involves teamwork, consensus building and conflict resolution. Her personal style is seeing the world with the glass half full. Her mission: To help our neighbors navigate change in a way that's constructive, collegial, and unifying and that embraces what all residents--both long term and new--have to offer Lamond-Riggs.

About Tischa. She served as Second VP of LRCA for two terms, chaired the LRCA Youth Development and Recreation Committee, served as ANC4B09 Commissioner and operated as ANC4B Treasurer and Chair of the ANC4B Recreation Committee. Tischa currently serves as a member of the LRCA Public Safety Committee, the Newsletter Distribution Committee, and the Development Task Force. Tischa's goals for our community are to: facilitate smart development; ensure public safety; build relationships; provide knowledge sharing; and offer activities and initiatives to senior, youth, long-term and new residents that will bring us together.

About Lisa. Lisa Wray aka Brannock is a Native Washingtonian who has lived in Lamond-Riggs with her two children since 1999. She is a DC Notary, philanthropist, activist, and avid community volunteer. She credits Shirleta Settles and the late Mildred (Milli) Edwards) with her activism in LRCA and the retired Block 8. Presently, she serves as an LRCA Trustee.

She believes that the community must navigate change together, and learn to live in harmony. That means investigating and resolving any causes of friction, and finding ways for our seasoned and newer residents to know each other better.
